Volunteer Spotlight

I am a new member of adaptive sportsmen. I was taken out on a turkey hunt May 15th, 2009 by Bill Iserloth, a great guy from Plymouth Wi. We went on a hunt last year and again this year. I shot this year's bird at 10:30 am after a long wait (we got to the blind at 4:45am). It is a 24-1/4 pound Tom and has a 10-1/4 inch beard. When you meet Bill you realize there are special people in the world. Bill took a vacation day to take me hunting, and afterwards Bill took me to meet his wife and show off the turkey. I don't know who was happier, him or me.

Bill has won the state turkey-calling contest 2 times and was third in the nation in 2004. When he calls it is like music. And when the toms answer it raises the hair on the back of your neck! You just don't know how great that felt. Thank You, Bill. (Ed. Note, a picture of Ivan's turkey is on the back page)

2009 Horicon 3D Archery Tournament

People walked, rolled or rode in Gators and on ATVs down the trail through the woods and fields of the 3D course. People using crossbows, compound and recurve bows shot together in small groups. We had several new shooters using equipment borrowed from Adaptive Sportsmen. It was also great to see so many old friends again. Targets encountered were as large as a moose and as small as a skunk. Most were North American mammals but an alligator and a prehistoric beast were also encountered. We had great weather for the June 27th 2009 3D shoot in Horicon. Some rain did fall after the shoot while we were enjoying our steaks hot off the grill with baked potatoes, cole slaw and many different deserts. After dinner the silent auction concluded and the prizes were distributed. Thanks to all of the volunteers from the Horicon Marsh Bowmen for putting this on again.

Madison Fishery, 2009

The 6th annual Adaptive Sportsmen Fishery on June 20th was one of the best yet with sunny weather and some really great fishing!

Fifteen members participated with some going out from 1:00pm to 4:00pm and the late group from 5:00pm to 9:15 pm thanks to Captain David Pike for keeping us out on the water, because the bluegills really turned on right at dusk. We had a delicious picnic lunch of hamburgers and brats with a great green salad that Patty and Dennis brought and don't forget the awesome chocolate cake donated from Karen the cake lady in Deforest.

We handed out a nice fishing rod and reel combo to each of the members with the help of Ace hardware in Sauk City and American Packaging in Columbus, also a cool t-shirt from Ameriprint in Sun Prairie. Scott Hogland did a terrific job again this year guiding Les Werner and John Mitchell for a wide variety of game fish on Lake Mendota. My brother Steve Martinson was able to get Bob Grozeck out and my son Kenny was guiding Nolan Nehmer in his boat.

The rest of the gang with guide Bruce Gehrke loaded up on the MSCR pontoon boats that work out great for power chairs with the ramps off the cemented slips and extra wide gates for a safe transfer.

Take care and I hope to see all of you next year and good luck fishing.
John Martinson

Ivan Craig shows off the 24-1/4 pound turkey he shot this spring.

The 2009 Mercer ATV Ride

This year we had 27 people participate in our 6th annual ATV Ride in Mercer, WI. Twenty disabled riders and 14 able bodied riders rode Friday and Saturday all over the pretty Northern Wisconsin forests and fields. We had sun, clouds and almost enough mud to make everyone happy. We enjoyed the sand pits along the way and made it to the shores of Lake Superior again. The mosquitoes were bad, but that is what we brought bug spray for. The fire pit was a great place to share stories about past and future plans. We had a lot of nice door prizes and raffle items to give away, and I don't think anyone left empty handed.

Among the disabled riders were Rick Benvinedes, Erin Brownell, Doug Bureta, Gary Debuhr, Gina Hackell, Joel Hoedel, Pete LePage, Tom Macosiek, and Dale Rebernick. The able-bodied (helpers?) were Scott Burns, Kyle Lloyd, Andy Russo, Jack Fisher, Penny Hansell, Karli Lepage, Mel Llanas, Don Mrotek.

The ride was sponsored in part by Harrison Hills ATV Club, TA Motorsports, and John Hartwig Motorsports. We would like to thank all of our sponsors for their help, this event couldn't go on without them. Also, special thanks to Cheri and John Stratte of Pine Forest Lodge for their help and hospitality which really makes this event special every year.

Spring Turkey Hunt at Badger Army Ammunition Plant

Thanks to our main sponsor the Sables of the Badgerland Safari Club the Adaptive Sportsmen held a 2009 spring turkey hunt. The Badger Army Ammunition Plant hosted us for the fifth time. The land is very accessible and the employees are so helpful it really works out great. Rising early in Baraboo we were greeted by rain but it tapered off to drizzle by daylight. The guides did another outstanding job getting hunters into position and calling in the Toms. This year two hunters missed so turkeys were absent from the picture under the cook shelter Larry Wilkinson set up. Smiles abounded as Greg Borgwardt's beef stew and hot turkey sandwiches were consumed and stories of wildlife that was seen were told. They included turkeys, deer, coyotes and skunks. Charlie Ande was grateful to be out on "parole" from his physical rehab unit for a day. Mike Gustin gave each hunter a hand made turkey wing bone call, which was an unexpected surprise. Thanks to everyone for coming and helping us get out there.

New Adventures the "Reel Story"

I bet you think this story is going to be about Walter Joost's spring turkey hunts. Not really! I will tell you that Walter experienced kind of an off year this spring turkey hunting. He harvested one mature gobbler with his shotgun, but it was a big one weighing 26 lbs.

The "reel" story (pardon the pun) is about Walter going musky fishing for the very first time. Walter had been asking me to take him fishing for the "Queen of Freshwater Fish" for the past several years. I had been kind of leery about taking Walter out in the boat over big waters because of his balance. Muskie fishing is a stand up and cast sport which requires good balance. I wasn't sure how many times I might be fishing for Walter! Finally, in June, I decided it was now or never for Walter. I invited him along for a big day on the lake casting and casting and casting. I warned Walter that they don't call the musky "The fish of 10,000 casts" for no reason! I told him it would be a lot of work just to see one following your lure. At the rate of 1 cast per minute, it would take about 166 hours to catch one. Not to worry, Walter was going out with the old pro!

We headed out onto the lake about 2 p.m. After several minutes of teaching Walter how to cast those big musky lures and how to perform a "Figure 8" at the end of every cast just in case a musky was following the lure, we were ready to get some serious fishing in. Because 5-6 inches of rain fell the day before we arrived, we found the lake water very muddy from all the run off. It was almost like fishing in hot chocolate. This made our day of musky fishing even more interesting as it was very difficult to see your fishing lure. Walter asked "How can the fish see our lures to bite them?" I told him "They will feel the vibrations and find them, maybe."

To make a long day of fishing short, after four and a half hours of steady casting and cranking, we only had one musky follow a lure. Walter had caught enough salad (weeds) to supply the Golden Coral restaurant chain for several weeks. Our plan was to fish until 7 p.m., then call it a day and go to Pizza Hut.

I told Walter who's arm was pretty sore by now and losing enthusiasm and confidence by the minute, "It only takes one fish to make your day." He reattached the Black Mepps Musky Killer I handed to him and started to cast away the last half hour of our fishing extravaganza. Less than 5 minutes later I hear him yell "I got one! Net him! Net him! Net him!" I couldn't net the musky because he was too deep and fighting hard. After the musky took several good runs, a very excited and nervous Walter brought the fish to the boat side and I netted his first musky! It was a brilliantly patterned 37 incher. (See picture). We were both pretty excited and started whooping it up! After taking several pictures of Walter holding his new prize, we let the musky go. As the musky swam away back to his dinner table it waved goodbye with his tail. We waved back and headed for the boat launch as it was just after 7 p.m. and our dinner table was waiting at Pizza Hut!
